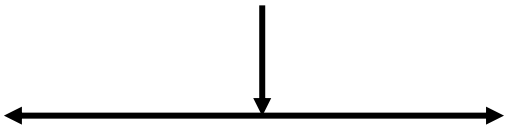
CHAPTER 19

NOUN - ACTIVE & PASSIVE PARTICIPLE

There are two types of noun participles.

Noun Participle



Active Participle

فَاعِل

The active participle is the person who does the act.

Passive Participle

مَفْعُول

The passive participle is the person on whom the act is performed.

We will add alif to the first root letter to make it an active participle, and we will add meem before the first root letter and waw after the second root letter to make it a passive participle.

Now, we will see verb form 2. In verb form 2, we will add meem to both the active and passive participles; the only difference is that the second root letter of the active participle will get kasrah, while the second root letter of the passive participle will get fathah.
